In our October issue, we introduced you to our latest team member, Janet R. Janet holds the position of 'Gardener', our Plant Specialist here at Almony's Property Maintenance. We want to ask for additional prayers, as she recovers from surgery. Janet went to the emergency room on December 3rd, after waking with a severe headache and blurry vision. She was taken for surgery the next day, when the Neurosurgeon removed a tennis ball size tumor from her brain. She is doing well and is recovering more swiftly than doctors had anticipated. She was nervous that her situation was going to hinder her graduation from York College of Pennsylvania. We're happy to say that, with many thanks to her professors and due to her hard working during and out of class, and fantastic grade point average, she was able to graduate on time December 19th with no issues. She is unable to drive yet and will be completing radiation therapy for 6 weeks.

She is a very strong, healthy, excited about life person with a huge heart, eager to return to work.

Please help us in wishing Janet a full and speedy recovery! We look forward to her return here at Almony's Property Maintenance.

THE SOUTHERN EDITION

GET TO KNOW the team . . .

Brian Almony! Born on January 19, 1980 and raised in New Freedom, Pennsylvania, Brian is the oldest of four boys... yes four! Brian was the most quiet of them all, curious and adventurous, and always eager to take things apart. His mother would get frustrated as he would take the VCR or radio apart JUST so he could figure out how they work and how they go back together. Brian was raised by two very hard working parents, loving and desire to give their boys what they needed. As a teenager, Brian was known for his foot work on four wheels (roller skating) and his bicycling. An interesting story from about 14 years old...Brian decided to ride his BMX bike from his home in New Freedom to a well-known roller skating rink in Hampstead, Maryland. As the sun set, and Brian realized he couldn't ride home in the dark, he rode to his buddies house close by. Needless to say, mom was not happy when she discovered where he had been and how he got there. Brian frequented the Shrewsbury Roller rink, previously known as RollerLand, now the YMCA, every chance he could. He was a competitive skater, both as an individual and as a pair team.

He met people and made numerous friends with his laid back, relaxed demeanor and 'roll with the punches' personality. He was introduced to a local guy who had a Lawn Care business in northern Maryland, so he spent his Summer of 1996 working from sun up to sun down mowing grass. He loved it! He loved the outdoors and this was a definite fit for him. After the season ended, he worked part time for his uncle at his Mechanic's shop in New Freedom, where he learned many trades of mechanic repair. Brian returned to work in early Spring of 1997, later to find that his boss' personal issues became too much and he had to close doors to his business later that season. Brian spent hours working and was unpaid. But, with much excitement, he was given his first walk behind lawn mower. HE WAS SET! He began putting himself out there as a young, hardworking, Junior at Susquehannock High School wanting to start his own business. He loaded that mower in the back of his dad's pickup truck day after day and added more and more lawns to his schedule week after week. He was determined. He was excited. He was going to do what he enjoyed doing. He was starting a business.

Almony's Lawn Service officially became a company in 1998. He bought a 1975 Dodge dump truck, army green and straight from Aberdeen Proving Grounds. He added a trailer, more mowing equipment, provided more services to his growing list of customers. He acquired the proper insurance and began studying on property maintenance techniques and guidelines.

Brian met Carrie in 1994 and became great friends. As time passed, they're friendship grew and they thrived together. By February 2002, Brian proposed to her and their relationship continued to grow. In April 2004, they married and worked together to continue the business growth. Almony's Lawn Service was reformed in to Almony's Property Maintenance, incorporating January of 2006. Cameran, his daughter, came along in August of 2006 and Brody, his son, was born in July of 2008.

As 2013 begins, Brian is looking forward to continuing improvements within his company, providing more benefits for his employees as well as opportunities for his children. He will be attending numerous courses in the coming months to further his knowledge within the industry.
